

Contents

The state of play: (primary education) introduction Sara Baker, Aimee Durning and Paul Ramchandani	1
1 Playful enquiry: between academic research and practitioner wisdom Paul Ramchandani, Aimee Durning and Sara Baker	4
2 Play instead of learning, or play as learning? Reconceptualising play for a new generation of children Sarah Seleznyov	17
3 Practices of play in education: play at home, school readiness, and a positive transition to school Beth Barker and Christine O'Farrelly	27
4 Inclusive practice and play in primary education Lenka Janik-Blaskova and Stephen Kilgour	48
5 Designing opportunities for play in primary education: A no-trade off approach to play and learning Luke Rolls, Rachel Lownsbrough and Liam Connolly	66
6 Risky play in primary schools Helen Dodd, Rachel Nesbit, and Matt Robinson	86
7 BRAC Play Labs: designing a high-quality, low-cost model for early years Erum Mariam, Jahanara Ahmad, and Sarah Tabassum	101

8 Developing playful mathematical thinking in Ghanaian early primary classrooms through the use of the game "Achi"	121
Esinam Ami Avornyo and Edith Afari Mensah
9 Becoming a playful school	134
Idah Khan O'Neill and Bo Stjerne Thomsen
10 Playful school leadership: being serious about leadership playfully	147
James Biddulph and Neil Gilbride
11 Fostering playful learning in school through a Pedagogy of Play	167
Mara Krechevsky
Play is for children not for school	185
James Biddulph
Appendix	188
Index	200