

Contents

List of illustrations	vii
Acknowledgements	ix
A note on currency	xi
Preface to the fifth edition	xiii
Introduction	1
1 The legacy of power	9
Economic changes 10
The nascent commune 13
2 The population	17
Status and occupation 17
Growth of the town 23
New categories and class feeling 28
Documents in translation 34
3 Government	36
Origins of the commune 36
Institutions 38
The podestà 43
Other officials 48
Administration 49
Church and state 54
The presuppositions of government 58
Citizenship 63
Documents in translation 66
4 Town and country	69
The contado 69

vi	Contents
	Administration in the contado	74
	Immigration from the contado	77
	Tenurial change in the countryside	79
	The liberation of the serfs	81
	The feudal nobility	82
	Documents in translation	84
5	External relations	85
	The role of the Empire and Papacy	86
	The conduct of diplomacy	91
	Military organisation	93
	Patriotism	96
	Documents in translation	101
6	Civic spirit and the visual arts	103
	Palaces and piazzas	104
	The walls	110
	Fountains	111
	Church-building	113
	Town planning	116
	Painting the city	118
	Documents in translation	123
7	Internal divisions	125
	Nobles and magnates	126
	The Popolo	136
	Other private city organisations	148
	Guelfs and Ghibellines	149
	The ideal of concord	159
	Documents in translation	161
8	The failure of the republics	163
	Feudal power	163
	The triumph of the Signoria	168
	Documents in translation	174
9	The historiography of the city-republics	176
	Abbreviations	191
	Further reading	192
	Historical gazetteer	199
	Index	211